For All the Saints

This Sunday we shall celebrate as All Saint's Sunday. All of us have people who live in our hearts even though they have passed on to their greater reward or are just far away. I have served so many parishes that I have many, living and dead, who live closely together in my heart. Sometimes I forget that they do not all know each other. They are neighbors in my heart, after all. Trinity Church already has many who feel close to me. We exist to love in the name of Christ, no matter differing opinions or styles. We are one in the Spirit. On this Sunday we celebrate those who have gone before us and showed us the way to live in Christ. We are One in the Spirit with those around the world we do not even know. This Sunday celebrates those who have inspired us locally and throughout all the ages. When you come to worship and we say "Lift up your hearts: we lift them to the Lord. ", we join with all the Saints in ages past and future to establish Christ's kingdom.

Consecration Sunday

“Consecration Sunday” was a new Stewardship Plan for Trinity Episcopal Church but was not new to either Ally or to our Campaign Chairman Steve Farris. I knew in my heart as I read the plan booklet, that if it’s based on what the Bible teaches, it has to work. Not only is it biblically based but it’s been around for a long time. It has been tested and proven. Thank you for listening to what Charlotte, Phyllis, Wayne, Steve and Rev’s Ally Perry and David Meginniss had to say. And, thank you for your overwhelming response.

Sincerely, Mike Bannon, Treasurer

Adult Sunday School – Religious Art

The gospel reading for All Saints Day was Luke’s version of the Sermon on the Mount (Luke 6:20-31). Rather than focusing on one painting on that lesson, we will study four paintings depicting the Sermon on the Mount. Two of the paintings will be from the early Renaissance period, one from the Baroque period, and one from the Realism period of the late nineteenth century. It should be interesting to see the different ways the Sermon on the Mount is illustrated by the four artists. Remember that we meet at 9:15.

Bible Timeline Study

Did you miss the first Bible Timeline Study? Don't worry – it's coming back! Bible Timeline Study will start during Advent and be on Wednesdays at one o'clock in Dunn Hall. The cost of the workbook is $42. The first meeting will be November 30th. If there is enough interest for a night class, Ally will be happy to teach one on Wednesday evenings.

Have you thought about reading the Bible or reading it again? This Bible study includes an extremely well written guideline, weekly video summary by the author who even has a sense of humor and a color coded chronologically correct fold-out timeline. It takes you from Creation through establishment of the Church in a manner that's easy to follow (even the Old Testament) and focuses on the Bibles common thread that is God's story, God's plan of salvation. Best of all, Ally makes it fun and interesting. So, think again... this is a great opportunity. I only wish I'd done it sooner..... Mike B.

I have been in many Bible classes in my lifetime, but never anything as gratifying and instructional as the "The Bible Timeline" taught by Rev. Ally perry. It opened up a whole new way of understanding the rich history of the bible and what it teaches. Because of this course, anytime I read or hear scripture, the message has a whole new meaning and understanding. I now recognize what is taking place in history and why the information is important. Attending this course was time well spent and I recommend it for everyone. You will not be sorry.....Warren J.
